Examiner's Amendment

1.   An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

2.   Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given by Attorney Craig N. Killen, Reg. No.

35,218 on February 7, 2007.

3.   The application has been amended as follows:

1. (Currently Amended) A method of performing transactions between disparate systems in a computing environment, said method comprising steps of:

(a) receiving a first message in a first message format from an originating system, said message

having request data indicative of a transaction request;

· (b) at a first interface, evaluating said first message to ascertain said request data;

(c) said first interface further applying a predetermined criteria to said request data so as to generate a context data structure organizationally independent of said first message format, said context data structure containing a plurality of data elements indicative of said transaction request, wherein said context data structure further includes an object identifier that refers to a configuration object that is indicative of the transaction request;

(d) routing said context data structure to an appropriate service system through ~~application~~ use of

~~topological~~ configuration objects such that at least one ~~to a~~ predetermined ruleset is invoked so that said transaction request can be responsively fulfilled by acting upon said plurality of data elements of said context data structure according to said at least one predetermined ruleset, said ~~topological~~ configuration objects being modifiable independently of said at least one predetermined ruleset, wherein said configuration object corresponds to an associated predetermined ruleset of said at least one predetermined ruleset, and looking up said configuration object that is associated with the object identifier to invoke said associated predetermined ruleset; and wherein said configuration object further comprises an object type, an object id, an object name, and an object version, and at least one of said object type, said object id, said object name, and said object version is used to identify said configuration object;

(e) fulfilling said transaction request at said service system and indicating ~~same~~ the fulfilled said transaction request to said first interface; and

(f) issuing via said first interface a second message to said originating system in said first message as a first response message to said transaction request.

2. (Previously Presented) The method as set forth in claim 1, wherein said first interface includes a network agent and an interface agent, said network agent being operative to extract said request data from said first message and said interface agent being operative to produce said transaction request therefrom.

3. (Previously Presented) The method as set forth in claim 2, wherein said service system includes a server agent in communication with said interface agent.

4. (Previously Presented) The method as set forth in claim 3, wherein said agents communicate with each other via message queues.

5-7. (Canceled)

8. (Previously Presented) The method as set forth in claim 1, wherein said step of fulfilling said transaction request comprises:

(g) at a second interface, issuing a third message in a second message format to an auxiliary system requesting information;

(h) receiving a second response message at said second interface in said second message format containing said information; and

(i) extracting said information from said second response message at said second interface and providing said information to said service system.

9. (Previously Presented) The method as set forth in claim 8, wherein said first message format and said second message format are different protocols.

10. (Previously Presented) The method as set forth in claim 8, wherein said first message format and said second message format are equivalent protocols.

11-18. (Canceled)
